The plan of having the greater part of the vessels which are to sail in the Pacific-bound fleet assemble in New York harbor and go together from that point to Hampton Roads has been abandoned in order that all of the ships may spend as much time as possible in dry dock. Orders have been issued for all men-of-war in the squadron to be at Hampton Roads December 9, one week prior to the date set for sailing.

JURY SWORN TO TRY POWERS

Four Republicans and Eight Democrats

Will Decide the Fate of Alleged Conspirator.

Opening Statement Made By the Prosecution.

TESTIMONY BEGINS TO-DAY.

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 28.—[Special.]—The jury to try Calhoun Powers on the charge of complicity in the murder of William Goebel was sworn this afternoon and the fourth trial has now really begun. The Commonwealth made its opening statement and the introduction of testimony will begin to-morrow. The first witnesses will be the physicians who attended Goebel and an engineer whose map will show that the shot was fired from the office of the Secretary of State. The jury which will try Powers is as follows:

J. W. Renaker, farmer, Democrat, Oddville.
G. B. Hinkle, farmer, Republican, Cordova.
J. C. Lindner, painter, Republican, Crittenden.
A. B. Joust, farmer, Democrat, Williamson.
O. C. Colyer, carpenter, Republican, Mt. Zion.
Barnett Franks, merchant, Democrat, Williamson.
James A. O'Hara, druggist, Democrat, Williamson.
E. J. Marshall, farmer, Democrat, Stauntonville.
John E. Race, farmer, Democrat, Heek.
Frank See, farmer, Democrat, Heek.
Thos. Robinson, farmer, Republican, Cross Roads.
J. L. Price, Grant county, Democrat. Four of these jurors are Republicans and one of the Democrats said that he voted for the Republican candidate for Governor at the last election. The jury was completed in the afternoon and the trial was then fairly begun.

Plea of Not Guilty.
The formal arraignment of the prisoner at the bar was dispensed with, he entering a plea of not guilty following the swearing of the jury to faithfully try the case and Judge B. G. Williams, of Frankfort, of counsel for the prosecution, made the opening statement for that side. The defense attorneys stated to the court that they preferred to make the statement of their side just before offering their testimony, as they have the right under the code to do.

Mr. Williams occupied the attention of court and jury for an hour and thirty minutes in presenting the case for the State. During that time he gave to the jury the definition of criminal conspiracy as charged in the indictment, gave the Commonwealth's idea of the motive of Powers in entering into such a conspiracy as is charged; reviewed the bringing to Frankfort of the "mountain army" of January 25, 1900, by the defendant; reviewed the testimony of the mountain witnesses who assisted in gathering together that body of men, declaring them all to have been close friends and adherents of Powers at that time and until they became witnesses for the Commonwealth against him; went over the movements of the accused in detail immediately before and after the assassination, referring to what the State deems fatal admissions upon his part.

Mainpring of Conspiracy.
He declared Powers to be the man "without whom the killing of Senator Goebel would never have been accomplished," and mainpring of the conspiracy charged in the indictment. The attorney devoted some time to those charged with Powers in the indictment, Howard, Youtsey and others, and declared that the Commonwealth didn't care whom the defense offered to show really fired the gun which robbed Goebel of his life. He declared that the case was not a political one, although efforts had been made to make it appear so. He said that the Commonwealth's Attorney and those associated with him in the prosecution of the case and Arthur Goebel, the brother of the dead man, who has so closely followed the prosecution of those charged with the murder and conspiracy, did not desire to convict anyone because of his politics nor for any other reason except his guilt of participation in the crime.

When the attorney had concluded his argument counsel for the State secured an adjournment of court until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning for the purpose of getting here all of their witnesses and preparing the testimony which they will present to the jury at this trial. When court opens to-morrow the engineer who plotted the ground and made the measurements which show that the bullet which killed Goebel was fired from the office of the Secretary of State and the physicians at Frankfort who attended Goebel after the shooting and to the time of his death will be the first witnesses called to the stand.

State Accepts Jury.

Not observing Thanksgiving day, Judge Morris convened the Scott Circuit Court at 9 o'clock this morning and proceeded to complete the panel of jurors, eleven of whom were in the jury box when court closed an hour before last midnight. Joe Dunn, a Republican, the first man called to fill the panel, disqualified himself, as did Sam Higgins, a Democrat, who followed him. Thomas Robinson, Republican, of Cordova neighborhood, a farmer twenty-five years old, then qualified for jury service. This completed the panel, with four jurors, Frank See, A. E. Lucas and John E. Race, Democrats and Robinson, Republican, subject to dismissal on peremptory challenge. The attorneys for the State withdrew for a conference as to the jurors, and the exercise of the three peremptory challenges remaining to the Commonwealth, turning within five minutes Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin announced that the jury would be accepted.

Defense Uses Challenge.

"The defense will excuse Mr. A. E. Lucas," said Mr. Owens, for the defense. Van Jackson, a Republican, came to take the vacant place in the jury box. He disqualified himself, as did J. P. Franks, William Goley, E. J. Points, Democrats, and James Osborne and J. O. Odor, Republicans. W. G. Rabul, a Democrat, was then called, but he was not in attendance upon court last night, and was excused from service. Sam Miller, a Republican, Richard Faulkner, G. S. Brumback, J. M. Webster, G. F. James and A. C. Webb, Democrats, and H. N. Brown, a Prohibitionist, followed one another in the box and all disqualified.

One Drink $2.

James Stevenson, Wm. P. Mitty, Wm. Amis and Alonzo Mitty, Republicans, and J. W. Hall and Chas. Scroggin, Democrats, disqualified on examination. "How many drinks have you had to-day?" asked Judge Morris, addressing Scroggin. "I had one drink before breakfast," answered Scroggin. "I will fine you $2," said the court. "I am a chipman, aged thirty-three, a merchant at Meekin, a Democrat, qualified, completing the panel. The Commonwealth took the jury. The defense lawyers promptly challenged Chipman Arthur McBee, a farmer of the Sherman neighborhood, who next up. He is a Democrat. He qualified. The jury was again taken by the State. The defense excused McBee on peremptory challenge.

THIRTY YEARS' SERVICE ON SUPREME BENCH

ANNIVERSARY OF APPOINTMENT OF JUSTICE HARLAN.

DISTINGUISHED KENTUCKIAN SHOWS NO TRACE OF AGE.

NO THOUGHT OF RETIRING.

Washington, Nov. 28.—[Special.]—John Marshall Harlan, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, will round out to-morrow thirty years as a member of the highest tribunal. While there is a rumor in circulation that he may resign his position as a member of the court in the near future, there is no confirmation to be had, so too much dependence should not be placed in it. Some time ago, when asked whether he ever thought about retiring, Justice Harlan said:

"I can only say that I have not as yet determined what I shall do. I could have retired on full salary on June 1, 1902. Now and then the thought comes to me that I should retire in order that I might do certain work which I cannot well do while on the bench; but when I get close to a determination of the question the thought comes to me that my life would be shortened and perhaps become dreary if I should quit the work to which I have become accustomed, and in the doing of which I am most happy. So I am undecided in the matter. It may be that my judicial work may end only with my life, unless in the meantime I am informed by those near me and who have the right to advise me that my duty is to give way to a younger man."

Born on June 1, 1833, Justice Harlan is now more than seventy-four years old, but is as active as a man half that age.

FULTON FRENCH FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

JURY FINDS HIM NOT GUILTY OF KILLING JAMES B. MARCUM.

Beattyville, Ky., Nov. 28.—[Special.]—The evidence in the trial of B. Fulton French, charged with the murder of J. B. Marcum, was concluded last night and the case was argued by J. J. C. Bach, and J. T. Cobb, for the defense and A. E. Byrd and J. B. Adams for the Commonwealth. The case was given to the jury at 10 o'clock this morning. In less than one hour they returned a verdict of not guilty.

CHILD KILLED IN MOTHER'S ARMS

SHOT BY ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF GUN LYING ON TABLE.

Morgantown, Ky., Nov. 28.—[Special.]—The seven-months-old baby of Ernest Burns was killed to-day by the accidental discharge of a gun. John Burns, who had been hunting, came in and laid the gun on the table. Mrs. Burns was standing in the door with the child in her arms. The gun went off without any apparent cause and shot the child in the abdomen. It lived about two hours.

FIGURES NOT MADE PUBLIC

Allotments of Certificates About $35,000,000.

Cortelyou Considers the Crisis Practically Over.

Effect of New Loans On the Treasury Balance.

INCREASE IN CIRCULATION.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The announcement by Secretary Cortelyou last night that further subscriptions to the one-year treasury certificates would not be received is regarded here as indicating that the Secretary considers the crisis in the money market as practically over.

Official figures have not yet been given out at the Treasury of the amount of the certificates allotted, nor has it been stated whether further allotments would be made for subscriptions already received. The amount of the allotments made, however, is to be about $35,000,000, and this is probably the limit unless strong reasons are presented from banks which have already made subscriptions why allotments should be made to them. All individual subscriptions having been rejected, it is anticipated that nearly the whole of the $35,000,000 allotted will be used to secure new issues of bank notes. As these issues will be retired within less than a year, they will not constitute a permanent inflation of the bank note circulation.

Effect of the Loans.

The effect of the new loans upon the future of the Treasury resources and of the money market is already receiving attention at the Treasury and in banking circles. From present sources of information, the amount nominally added to the cash balances of the Treasury will be about $35,000,000, of which $20,000,000 will represent the 2 per cent. Panama bonds and $15,000,000 will represent the one-year certificates which have been allotted. This amount would increase the present nominal balance from $241,354,217, where it stood yesterday, to a little more than $256,000,000. A small additional amount will be derived from the premium on the Panama bonds, but even if this should average as high as $2,500,000.

With a nominal balance, however, of more than $325,000,000 the Treasury will not have anything like that amount immediately available. This is because of deposits in national banks and other deposit items. These items amounted yesterday to $234,339,589, leaving an actual working balance of $6,462,828. The Secretary has announced that 90 per cent. of the payments for Panama bonds will be left in the custody of the national banks purchasing the bonds, and about 75 per cent. of the payments for the one-year certificates will be left with the banks.

The Working Balance.

The effect of these changes in the Treasury balance sheet, upon the basis of issues of bank notes, securities to the amount of $35,000,000, will be to increase the amount in banks to about $300,000,000 and the working balance to about $22,000,000. The increase of $14,000,000 in the working balance will be due to the retention in the Treasury of $5,000,000, and about 10 per cent. of the principal of the Panama payments, and of $9,000,000, or 25 per cent. of the principal of $35,000,000 in treasury certificates.

This condition of the Treasury finances will be changed materially in the spring if Secretary Cortelyou is able to carry out the programme of retiring a considerable portion of the one-year certificates before maturity. He will have no difficulty in doing this and saving a considerable portion of the interest to be paid on them if the agreements made with banks to the effect can be carried out under the conditions of the money market existing in the spring. If $20,000,000 of the certificates can then be paid off the cash balance will fall to about $25,000,000, deposits in banks will decline by 10 per cent. of the amount paid off, or to $22,500,000 and the cash balance will be due to taking from the Treasury cash 25 per cent. of the amount paid for the retirement of the certificates. It seems probable, however, that money market conditions will be such that the Secretary will feel justified in calling upon the banks for considerably more cash than comes to them in payment for the Treasury certificates. Under these circumstances, while the general balance sheet of the Treasury will show a cash balance could be secured and the actual working balance would be increased.

To Reduce Deposits.

It is not only considered highly desirable to reduce deposits in the banks as soon as money market conditions permit, but it is believed that there will be little difficulty in doing so. If the Treasury can reduce its deposits to the neighborhood of $20,000,000 in the course of the spring, it will have a cash balance of about $10,000,000 as a working balance, from which deposits could be made from time to time to aid in the crop movement in the autumn, if they were required. The history of previous crises shows that money tends to accumulate rapidly in the banks after the worst of a crisis is over. In 1893, the specie in national banks fell from $207,222,441 on May 4, to $186,761,173 on July 12. The worst break in the stock exchange occurred on July 26, when call money went to 75 per cent. Notwithstanding this, business depression was still acute and the country over the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase bill and still raging in Congress at the beginning of October, the relaxation in business activity led to the decline of loans on October 3, 1893, by about $175,000,000, and this had its logical sequence in the accumulation of specie in national banks to the amount of $234,000,000, or an increase of about $38,000,000 from the low point shown by the bank reports. In six weeks more, or by the statements of December 19, 1893, specie in national banks had increased to $251,253,648, or by nearly $55,000,000 over the low point. The banking community deals now with much larger aggregates, the specie in national banks by the statement of August 22, 1907, having reached $531,107,750. On August 22, 1907, the banks had increased their specie holdings by $59,500,000, since November 12, 1906, and had increased their legal tender holdings from $152,273,383 to $170,515,722. They had thus prepared for a storm to the extent of about $75,000,000. Since August Government deposits have been poured into New York to the amount of about $85,000,000 and bank-note circulation has been increased by approximately $40,000,000.

The Increase in Circulation.

The next increase in circulation after the allotment of the new securities will not be less than $200,000,000 and it is believed that the increase will be by spring. The policy of the Treasury, therefore, in providing for the redemption of the one-year certificates, with a shorter term than one year, will involve the elimination of the bank-note circulation based upon these certificates and a considerable withdrawal of cash from the banks into the Treasury.

Many Absurd Rumors About Taft's Visit.

RUSSIANS WANT TO AID THE UNITED STATES.

OFFER THEIR SERVICES FOR WAR WITH JAPAN.

SECRETARY HURRYING HOME.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 28.—As a result of the fact that Washington has cabled Secretary Taft requiring him to hasten his return to the United States, the Secretary, who is coming across the Trans-Siberian railroad, and is due at Moscow next Saturday, has sent a telegram to Montgomery Schuyler, Jr., the American Charge d'Affaires, asking him if possible to arrange the audience with Emperor Nicholas so as to enable Mr. Taft to leave St. Petersburg the afternoon of December 4 instead of the night of December 5, as provided for in the original schedule. Mr. Taft says that he must catch the steamer President Grant, which will sail from Hamburg December 7, and that if he leaves St. Petersburg on the 6th, even the closest connections will make it hardly possible for him to get to Hamburg in time.

The visit of Secretary Taft has given an impetus to the stream of Russians who come to the American Embassy to volunteer their services for the supposedly impending Japanese-American war. This idea has gotten such a hold on the people that some officers have even taken steps to organize companies of volunteers. Mr. Schuyler is resorting to the Russian press to deny the possibility of trouble with Japan and, consequently, the need of volunteers.

The most absurd stories regarding Secretary Taft's mission to Russia are in general circulation. As an example, there is published a tale that the Secretary is authorized to arrange for the stationing of two Russian army corps in the Philippine Islands and one American corps at Vladivostok, and that he already has engaged several Russian officers at high salaries for this service.

Dispatches received here from Tokio declare that Japan, on her own initiative, has marked the graves of the Russian volunteers who died while prisoners of war with granite headstones. All the newspapers comment favorably on this evidence of the friendliness of Japan.

LAWYER LANGUISHES IN NEW YORK PRISON.

HEART WEAK AND SUFFERS FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

IN DANGEROUS CONDITION.

New York, Nov. 28.—Abraham Hummel, formerly a well-known lawyer in the criminal and divorce courts here, is seriously ill on Blackwell's Island, the New York City prison to which he was sentenced to serve a year's confinement recently, after his conviction on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Dodge-Rose divorce proceedings, a case which attracted much attention at the time. Hummel, the prisoner, authorities said to-day, is suffering from kidney trouble and a weak heart, but a report, which gained currency, that he was dying was denied.

"Ab" Hummel, as he was familiarly known, was not only prominent in certain legal circles, but was a familiar figure on the "great white way," as the theatrical district on Broadway is known. He was one of the best known of first-nighters, and was also popular in turg circles. His downfall on charges of conspiracy as a result of divorce proceedings, brought by Charles W. Morse, the financier, caused a sensation.

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 28.—[Special.]—The Brown county, Ohio, branch of the Equity Society at a meeting decided to notify the growers in that county that they could go ahead and deliver their holdings now without molasses.

This, it is claimed, has been brought about by C. L. Head, buyer for the American Tobacco Company at Ripley, O. He was notified along with other buyers to cease his operations in that county, but he informed them that this was a free country, that he was employed to buy tobacco, and that as long as he could find holders willing to dispose of their crops at his prices he would buy and have it delivered.

He did and in consequence the Equity people decided to withdraw their request.

VISITS HOME OF MADISON

President Roosevelt Spends Day At Montpelier.

Escorted All Through the Historic Mansion.

Thanksgiving Dinner Follows At White House.

JOURNEY ON SPECIAL TRAIN.

Washington, Nov. 28.—President Roosevelt spent to-day at the old home of President Madison near Montpelier, Va. This trip was taken in variation of the custom of the President, which has been to go to his country home at Pine Knot, Va., on Thanksgiving day. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Ethel and Quintin Roosevelt.

The party left the White House early to-day and were driven to the new Union station, which they left at 9 o'clock in a special train. The trip over the Southern railway was without mishap and was enjoyed by all. They were driven over a fine road from Montpelier to the old Madison homestead and were escorted through all parts of the mansion and listened to many stories concerning the historic spot. The President was particularly interested in visiting the tomb of President Madison and remained near it for some time.

When the party returned to their private car luncheon awaited them and was served as soon as the homeward journey was begun. Although the weather Bureau had predicted rainy weather, the day was not marred by any downpour, but it was cloudy during the entire time they were away.

Upon reaching home the President was in fine trim and walked to his carriage with quick strides and a swinging gait. A crowd awaited the party at the depot, where carriages were taken and they were driven to the White House. Their Thanksgiving dinner was the occasion for a family reunion, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth remaining at the White House.

NOTE OF OPTIMISM.

Sounded by Ambassador Reid At Banquet in London.

London, Nov. 28.—Whitelaw Reid, the American Ambassador, spoke optimistically on the financial outlook, and Field Marshal Sir George Stuart Wortley, President Roosevelt, in the warmest terms at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American society to-night. That the financial depression was felt among the Americans in England was shown by the attendance at the banquet which was the smallest in several years. Three hundred guests participated compared with 400 at last year's banquet. The President of the society, Col. Millard Hunsicker, was absent and R. Newton Crane, a former president, presided in his stead. Mr. Reid said in part:

"Some one said to me, as I was starting for this dinner, 'You will have to be a Mark Tapley to-night—cheerful under difficulties.' That was only an exaggerated way of saying that we will have to be as American as we can be in looking upon the situation. It was worse when the country was not 'half as big or half so rich as it is now, and we have not forgotten how we came out of them.'"

Continuing, Mr. Reid said he was reminded of a motto he had once seen on a small, "transient" nubes named 'Colum,' which freely translated means 'We are in a bit of a fix, but we shall soon be out of it again.'"

"When the clouds roll by," Mr. Reid then said, "it will be seen that we still have the country that I've long told us, that we still have a people, and that we still have the boundless opportunities which after every reverse in the past, have invariably speedily lifted us higher and yet higher. Given these, what Americans fear the result?"

New Orleans, La., Nov. 28.—In his Thanksgiving day sermon here at Trinity Protestant Episcopal church the rector, the Rev. Dr. Beverly D. CHIEF HAAGER RETAINS POST

Head of Police Department Given Reappointment.

Possible Reforms Will Wait On Consultations.

Had Several Times Declined Proffered Place.

HIS RECORD "ON THE FORCE."

Col. Jacob Haager, who was appointed Chief of Police by Mayor Bingham's Board of Public Safety, was reappointed by Mayor Grinstead's Republican Board of Public Safety yesterday morning.

The board, of which W. Marshall Bullitt is chairman, met with Mayor Grinstead in the Mayor's office at the City Hall yesterday morning and after a consultation decided on the appointment of Col. Haager. This is the first appointment made by the present board, but other appointments are expected to follow shortly.

Previous to the meeting between the members of the board and the Mayor Col. Haager held a conference with Mayor Grinstead. As a result of this conference he accepted the appointment.

Once Declined Reappointment.

Mr. Bullitt said last night that the position of chief of police was offered Col. Haager shortly after the board went into office, but that he declined the proffer on the grounds of business plans. After the settlement of the strike, during which Col. Haager gave such efficient service in protecting the citizens and the company's property, the members of the board insisted that he accept the appointment and remain chief of police for the next two years. Col. Haager declined to state last night whether any members of the force would be "weeded" from the department, declaring that this matter rested entirely with the Mayor and the Board of Public Safety.

To Consult About Reorganizing.

"I decline to state what will be done in this matter," he said, "but I will say that I shall hold a consultation with the Mayor and the board within the next day or two and shall leave it to their discretion whether any of the men shall leave the department."

In speaking of the appointment of Col. Haager, Mr. Bullitt said: "I believe Col. Haager is the most capable man that we could find for the position of Chief of Police. He demonstrated this during the strike. We asked him several times to remain in his office, but he constantly refused until this morning, when he complied with our urgent request and accepted the appointment."

Col. Haager's Police Record.

Col. Haager was born in Louisville in 1863. He first entered the Police Department in 1888, when he was made a patrolman under Mayor Jacob. He remained on the force until 1896, when he was appointed a captain of police. In that year the detectives' office was "cleaned out" by Mayor Taylor's board and Col. Haager was made Chief of Detectives. Col. Haager said last night that during the term of his predecessor as Chief of Detectives the arrests averaged 250 a year. During the first year of his term as Chief the arrests numbered 570. Col. Haager remained in office as Chief of Detectives only one year and three months.

Police Chief Under Weaver.

On December 1, 1897, he was appointed as Chief of Police by Mayor Weaver to succeed Gen. Taylor. He served as Chief of Police for nearly four years. In July, 1901, Charles Grinstead was nominated as Mayor of the city and Col. Haager at that time tendered his resignation. His resignation took effect when Mayor Grainger went into office, and he at once started a private detective agency. While at the head of this agency he did detective work throughout the country. In Government service several times he made trips to San Francisco. He remained at the head of this agency until July 12, 1907, when he was appointed Chief of Police by Mayor Bingham.

year will equal expenditures. From present indications, therefore, the Treasury will not only have cash at command, during the spring, but it is believed by bankers that there will be a glut, which will result in a sharp decline in the rate of interest, and a consequent rise in the price of bonds.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE

In Corporate Management Cause of Trouble, Says Mr. Fish.

New York, Nov. 28.—There can be no restoration of public confidence until the State and Federal authorities send to jail the men who have looted corporations, in the opinion of Senator Fish, who returned last night from Chicago.

"As has been foreseen and foretold, the present crisis is due to utter lack of confidence in corporate management as controlled and directed from Wall street. Such lack of confidence is world-wide," said Mr. Fish.

"To re-establish confidence abroad we must first re-establish it at home and particularly in the agricultural communities of the West and South, where the real wealth of this country is annually taken out of the soil in the shape of crops, lumber, coal and other minerals."

"It has often been said that there were two ways of avoiding this panic. First by the corporations purging themselves, cleaning their own houses; second, by the government action of Government putting some of the rascals in jail."

"Neither the corporations nor the Government, State or Federal, has as yet acted efficiently; hence we are confronted with a period of depression in general business which is real and widespread and must of necessity last until confidence is restored. This again can be expected by vigorous action on the part of corporations or government or delayed indefinitely through inaction."

COUNTRY NEEDS REST,

Says James J. Hill in Discussing the Financial Situation.

New York, Nov. 28.—"What this country needs above everything else is the rest cure," said James J. Hill, who arrived in town yesterday, in discussing the financial situation. "We all want to go to sleep for a good long time, and wake up with both eyes open. The country has been suffering from over-trust, while there is an easing in the mercantile credit situation, the people who have money are holding on to it and giving checks instead."

"Nobody wants to let the money go. The merchants have such a situation. It is made on good authority that merchants of Texas are having new contracts printed for next year requiring cotton farmers who will ask for SEVERAL VIOLENT DEATHS.

"Hello, Dr. Groves," called the routine reporter over the telephone to the Coroner last night. "Have you had any calls? Have there been any violent deaths to-day?"

"Well, I should say so," exclaimed the Coroner at the other end of the wire.

"Just a moment, doctor; just a moment," he panted, "until I get my copy paper together. Now you say there were several violent deaths?"

"Yes," replied the Coroner, "and he rang off."

"DUSTY" WINGS NEGRO WHO INSULTED HIM.

Albert Cage Shot in Leg, But the Wound Is Not Considered Dangerous.

Albert Cage, colored, aged twenty years, living at 927 West Green street, was shot in the leg by a negro known as "Dusty" yesterday afternoon and taken to the City Hospital to have his wound dressed. According to Cage's story, he and a friend, Ed Sherman, were walking down the street at Ninth and Grayson streets, yesterday afternoon, when they suddenly encountered a man who was carrying a revolver. "Dusty," who was standing on the corner, threw it without a word at "Dusty's" feet and passed with silent dignity on. "Dusty," however, seemed to have understood the pantomime on his pseudonym and, with equal silence, though less gravity, whipped out his revolver and put in a few telling remarks. At the City Hospital Cage's wound was said to be not very serious. "Dusty" presumably fled, for until a late hour last night he had not been apprehended.

Pelatih Webster, Architect of Federal Constitution.

MEMORIAL PREPARED BY HANNIS TAYLOR, OF ALABAMA.

FINANCIAL LEGISLATION DEPENDS ON SENATOR ALDRICH.

PENSIONS FOR AGED CLERKS.

Washington, Nov. 28.—[Special.]—After a special study of more than thirty years, Hannis Taylor, of Alabama, will present to Congress next week a memorial in behalf of "the architect of our Federal Constitution," Pelatih Webster, of Philadelphia. He concludes as follows:

The marvel is that the historians, who are supposed to have explored the sources, have never taken the pains to ask this simple and inevitable question, from what common source did the draftsmen of the four plans draw the path-breaking inspiration which was the foundation of all of them? Let it be said to the honor of these draftsmen that no one of them ever claimed to be the author of that inspiration.

The answer to the simple and inevitable question just propounded is this: The common source from which the draftsmen of the four plans drew the path-breaking inspiration underlying them all was "A Dissertation On the Political Union and Constitution of the Thirteen United States of North America," published at Philadelphia by Pelatih Webster, February 16, 1788.

"Prior to that utterance, no Federal assembly, ancient or modern, had ever considered of two chambers; no one had ever suggested such an idea. If, after a careful examination of the history of Congress shall deem the architect of our Federal Constitution unworthy of a monument, the undersigned prays in his behalf that this humble memorial may be embodied in its records, so that succeeding generations may determine for themselves whether or no his work has been justly judged."

Aldrich Has the Last Word.

The biggest factor in financial legislation is Senator Aldrich, the Republican leader in the upper branch. It matters little what the House Banking and Currency Committee does unless Aldrich approves it. When the time comes the Rhode Islander gets in his work, and if he really wants financial legislation the probability is that there will be something done along that line. His present attitude is unknown. He is not the man for speech making. He became involved in a currency debate in the closing days of the last session of Congress, however, and his views then may point the way to his position he will take at the coming session, though not necessarily so. One of the important questions now before the Administration and leaders of both parties is to determine just how far it would be wise to go in the issuing of national bank currency against various classes of securities other than United States bonds. A search of the Congressional Record indicates that Senator Aldrich believes in the widest extension of the privilege consistent with safety.

Favors Certain Classes of Bonds.

Replying to interrogatories, he explained that a few years ago his committee had reported in his favor a class of securities for deposits as follows: Government bonds, State bonds, municipal bonds of a certain character, bonds of cities and cities of certain size, and that had never repudiated their obligations. Continuing, he said:

"There can certainly be no objection to the acceptance of bonds of the United States or bonds of any State, but when you go into any municipality in the Union, that is very doubtful and questionable ground, because there are a great many municipalities whose bonds would never be sold at anywhere near par, and they would not be received by any bank in the United States as a security for a loan."

It is believed Aldrich would favor the establishment of a central organization for existing national banks, as has been suggested by some eminent financial authorities. He would probably oppose the banks having interest in the money loaned them by the Government, a proposition which just now is meeting with some favor.

Taft Needed At Home.

Conflict of expert opinions as to what kind of a man can ride a horse has brought about a state of confusion and ridiculous dilemmas in the Engineer Corps of the army, that the President and Secretary Taft, who are expected to solve some knotty problems when the Secretary of War returns from the Philippines in about three weeks.

All this results from the President's riding test for the revolving-chair warriors—and possibly a little pull by friends. The fat army officers who did not take the ride upon the advice of physicians that it might be fatal to do so have great hopes that the coming of the War Secretary, himself a fat man, will hold them their places.

The court will consider in earnest this winter the question of retiring superannuated Government clerks. Representative H. C. Gillette, of Massachusetts, chairman of the House Committee on Reform in the Civil Service, has been studying the question for the past month and goes on record as saying his committee will present to the House for action a bill to retire the aged clerks read by Mrs. Bradley just before she shot the Senator, would be here to-morrow as a witness against Mrs. Bradley.

There is no intention on the part of any of the parties in the case to call Mrs. Adams as it is not considered necessary to involve her in the trial to any greater extent than has been done. The entire case hinges on the question of the mental condition of Mrs. Bradley, and the jury merely will be asked to determine whether at the time of the shooting she was mentally capable of knowing right from wrong and of choosing the right course.

It is expected that five witnesses will be present to-morrow to give their testimony. Two of them will be the alienists who have been called by the Government, and three will be witnesses who have some knowledge of Mrs. Bradley and the shooting affair.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 28.—[Special.]—The Interstate Commerce Commission will meet here December 5 to hear complaints of coal companies against the Southern railway.

The Director of the Census will issue in a few days "The Blue book," which will contain the names of all the employees on the Government pay roll throughout the United States and possessions. Out of 23,947 employees in the district of Columbia, Kentucky and Tennessee have 261 each and Indiana 692.

Representative Johnson, of the Fourth Kentucky district, is in the city. Mr. Johnson is stopping at the Cohran, where he will be during the session.

The Secretary of the Treasury has been requested by Representative Langley, of the Tenth district, to call on one of her sons who is suffering from the effects of the flu, to visit her in the city of Winchester, a United States depository.

Representative Helm, of the Eighth Kentucky district, is in the city.

QUIET DAY IN JAIL

MRS. BRADLEY'S TRIAL TO BE RESUMED TO-DAY.

Counsel of Both Sides Expect That Testimony Will Be Completed.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, charged with having shot and killed Senator Charles McNamara, of Kentucky, in this city last December, had a quiet day in the district jail to-day. She arose at her usual hour and expressed her gratification that she would be able to have a day of rest, as the constant attendance upon the trial of her case had been very wearying upon her.

Early in the day she was given favorable news concerning the condition of one of her sons who is suffering from an attack of the flu in this city. The boy is stopping in a boarding house and is expected to be home in a few days.

The court will, to-morrow, conclude with all witnesses, according to the plans of counsel on both sides of the case. A rumor has been circulated to the effect that Mrs. Annie Adams, mother of Maud Adams, the actress, whose letters to Senator McNamara were read by Mrs. Bradley just before she shot the Senator, would be here to-morrow as a witness against Mrs. Bradley.

There is no intention on the part of any of the parties in the case to call Mrs. Adams as it is not considered necessary to involve her in the trial to any greater extent than has been done. The entire case hinges on the question of the mental condition of Mrs. Bradley, and the jury merely will be asked to determine whether at the time of the shooting she was mentally capable of knowing right from wrong and of choosing the right course.

PENNSYLVANIA WINS FROM CORNELL TEAM

Quakers Down Old Rivals Before 30,000 People By Score of 13 To 4 In a Spectacular Game.

ITHACAS FAVORITES BEFORE CONTEST.

Strength of Winning Eleven Shown Early in the Battle.

SCORE IN FIRST HALF 6 TO 0.

NEW YORKERS GAIN STRENGTH TOWARD END AND THREATEN OLD PENN'S GOAL.

RESULTS OF OTHER GAMES.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—History repeated itself on Franklin field this afternoon, Pennsylvania again winning the annual football game with Cornell, the score this year being 13 to 4. It was Pennsylvania's thirteenth victory in fifteen games played with the Ithacas, the New York State team having won one contest and tied another.

The game was finely played, bringing out many spectacular plays, which were greatly enjoyed by the thirty thousand people who filled the big stands. So full of confidence was Cornell that her supporters turned the tide of betting in her favor. The teams were not on the field five minutes before the accidents and fukes of the game, was likely to win. She went at Cornell hammer and tongs from the jump, and all during the first half the Quakers were in the lead. The score at the first half, 6 to 0, does not indicate Pennsylvania's strength in that period. Twice the Quakers carried the ball over the Cornell line, but were disallowed only by the referee's decision. Once they lost the ball two feet from the goal on downs, and another time, when the ball was carried two yards from a score, they were again penalized for holding. In this half the Quakers were penalized seventy-five yards and held Cornell to one first down. In the second half the Quakers were in the lead, and the Cornell line was held back by the Quakers' line. The Cornell line was held back by the Quakers' line. The Cornell line was held back by the Quakers' line.

COLORED PEOPLE PROJECT THEATER IN LOUISVILLE.

Plans For Organization of Stock Company Said To Be Well Under Way As First Step.

A movement is on foot among local negro capitalists to open a theater for colored people in Louisville. Probably the movement was inspired by the large houses the "Smart Set" drew while playing here last week. Already a number of colored theaters have been established in some of the larger cities, and an effort is now being made by those interested in the project to include Louisville in the chain of cities now operating successful stock companies.

Robert Mott, who owns the Pekin Theater, in Chicago, has been suggested as the person most capable of making the movement a success. He also owns a theater in New York, and last week opened up the Robinson Theater, in Cincinnati. Since Mott has secured such good patronage, members of his race are opening playhouses in Memphis, New Orleans and Little Rock. It is not the intention of the promoters to remove the colored people from the city, but to form good stock managers and players.

An organization of a stock company will be the next step taken by those interested, and it is said that the most available site for the contemplated theater is the corner of Third and Walnut streets. Col. J. C. Coleman, of the Louisville Post-Dispatch, is one of the large stockholders in the company. When the theater is dark, according to the plan, the house is to be used for conventions and other meetings.

INDIANA PHYSICIAN PRAISES DR. ALLEN.

Asks That Mayor Grinstead Retain Him As City Health Officer.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, of Indianapolis, Ind., has written a letter to Mayor James F. Grinstead in which he asks that Dr. M. K. Allen be retained as Health Officer for the city of Louisville. Dr. Hurty speaks highly of Dr. Allen's work in this department and follows:

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28, 1907.—The Hon. James F. Grinstead: I learn from Dr. C. E. Perrott, who is president of the Indiana State Medical Association, that there is a movement on foot to have Dr. M. K. Allen as Health Officer of your city. Permit me to recommend Dr. Allen, who is a man of high character, and who I know that he is one of the most efficient city health officers in the United States. He has done an excellent work, and he has a full knowledge of sanitary science, and it is rare to find a doctor with this knowledge. In addition to this knowledge he has, as you certainly know, energy and capacity. I am sure that he is a compliment to the citizens of your city, and I am sure that he will be a credit to the city and to your administration. I have written this letter with the highest respect for you and on account of my friendship for Dr. Allen, and also because I wish to see the public health of your city in the hands of the highest efficiency. Hoping that I have not transcended the boundaries of propriety, I am, Sir, very respectfully, yours, J. N. HURTY, Sec'y.

SMOKERS BARRED FROM CLEVELAND CITY HALL.

Mayor Tom Johnson One of Greatest Sufferers From His Own Reform.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 28.—The use of tobacco, in any form, by City Hall employees was forbidden to-day by President W. J. Springfield, of the Board of Public Service, in charge of the hall. He admits the order was inspired by no less an authority than Mayor Tom L. Johnson. The Mayor, who almost constantly draws on a briar pipe while in his office, says he shall obey his own order.

"I am a victim of the reform we have decided on," said Mayor Johnson. "In the offices which by any chance are visited by the public the use of tobacco is forbidden from this date," read the order of President Springfield.

"After working hours tobacco may be resorted to," a postscript reads.

MRS. RUFINA BOHL DIES.

The New Albany Y. M. C. A. is to join with the associations of Terre Haute and Evansville in a big triangular membership contest, which is to begin December 4 and continue until December 21. While Terre Haute is over twice and Evansville three times as large as New Albany, yet this association of the three cities is not equal in membership, and the contest promises to be a warm one from beginning to end. The scoring will be by points, and every dollar paid in on new memberships and renewals will count one point. The association having the greatest number to its credit at 10 o'clock the night of Saturday, December 21, will be declared winner of the contest. This is the first contest of the kind that has ever been conducted at such a different climate, and the result will be eagerly watched for by the associations of the county.

The New Albany association, in order to do the best it can, will organize a number of teams of five men each, who will engage the teams of Terre Haute and Evansville in a series of five-course turkey banquets. Any member will be allowed to organize a team to compete for this prize. The individual scoring the largest number of points will be given a prize of $10 in gold. The second largest number of points will secure a year's membership free, and the boy under sixteen scoring the most points will be given a year's membership. There will be a meeting to-night of the captains of the different teams, and those who desire to engage in the contest are requested to be present.

TO KEEP SALOON OPEN.

Elmer Morris, of Scottsburg, Wins First Court Step.

The fight to close the saloon of Elmer Morris, at Scottsburg, Ind., thirty miles north of Jeffersonville, which has already cost more than $400, has resulted in a victory for Morris in the Scott Circuit Court, but it is understood an appeal will be taken to the Indiana Appellate Court and it is estimated that the costs may reach nearly $1,000 before the litigation is ended. A motion for a new trial has already been made, and in case this is refused it is given out the appeal will be taken.

Morris, who had been conducting a saloon for some time at Scottsburg, was indicted for keeping a saloon, and a license last June, was met with a remonstrance that was signed by a large number of persons, who deluged James F. Irvin as their attorney to represent them before the Board of Commissioners, however, granted the license and an appeal was taken to the Circuit Court, where it was tried before a jury. The jury returned a verdict that lasted three days a verdict in favor of Morris was rendered. The jury after deliberating several hours became confused on the instructions given by Judge Joseph H. Shaw and he was asked to read them again, which he did. The jury retired for a second time and was out several hours before a verdict was reached, which was the license was granted on the 24th of July, 1907, by the Board of County Commissioners of Scott county, which is comprised of Samuel Truelock, Joseph Corrier and William L. Irvin. Morris is entitled to continue his business. The suit has resulted in a great deal of bitterness, and the evidence of character witnesses varied according to which side of the case they had been summoned on.

Wiley, 105 Sparks avenue, which has been an annual event for several years in honor of Col. John N. Ingram, father of Mrs. Wiley, who to-day reaches the age of eighty-two years. Col. Ingram is one of the two survivors of the Mexican War, but he is in Jeffersonville, the other being Thomas Howard, who is the senior of Col. Ingram and, like him, has been in bad health for some time. Col. Ingram is a native of Jefferson county, Indiana, and in 1842 went to Madison and when the Mexican War broke out enlisted there. In 1848 he became a member of Monroe Lodge of Odd Fellows and soon after he became a member of the Jefferson Lodge, No. 3, in December, 1850. A movement was then on foot to establish Tabor Lodge, No. 92, and he signed a petition for a charter, the lodge being instituted on January 29, 1851. Bear, of Madison, who was sitting as a Special Judge in the Scott Circuit Court and who will render a decision in January. The defendant in the suit is Jonathan C. Cline, and the case was first filed on January 1, 1904. At a trial of the case the finding was in favor of Hays, but Cline appealed to the Appellate Court and the judgment of the Scott Circuit Court was reversed and the case was sent back to Scott county. Judge Bear called in to act as a Special Judge. During the long litigation the costs have run up to an enormous sum.
